

Donating In Memory of Someone Special

Thank You so much for thinking of us at what must be such a difficult time for you. Please accept our sincerest condolences for your loss.

It is incredibly kind of you to want to support Queenscourt Hospice in this way. As a small local charity with a big reach, we rely on the generosity of our wider community so that we can continue to provide exceptional compassionate care, when it is needed the most

When you make a donation or organise a fundraising event in memory of someone special, it is a lovely way in which to honour all that they meant to you, as well as supporting the vital work of #teamqueenscourt. We are always touched and humbled by the stories and memories you share with us about loved ones, and we are really grateful that you have chosen to support us in this way.

Here are some answers to the most common questions we get asked about In Memory fundraising:

Donating In Memory

You can donate in memory of a loved one online by using the Donate button on our website by going to www.queenscourt.org.uk/donate

When you make your donation, you can tell us the name of this special person and, if you would like, you can also tell us more about them and why you are donating.

Collecting at a Funeral or Memorial Event

Collecting donations at a funeral in aid of Queenscourt can make a lasting difference in memory of your loved one. You might choose to do this by asking for donations instead of flowers. You could also hold a collection at a celebration of life service or memorial event.

We can provide collection pots for use at funerals and memorials, and we also have additional resources available such as donation envelopes, pin badges, and cardboard collection boxes.

You may also like to create an online Tribute Page in honour of your loved one through Much Loved, www.muchloved.com; or Just Giving www.justgiving.com. You can share this Tribute Page on social media, perhaps at the same time as you share details of the funeral arrangements and how to make a donation.

Planning a Memorial Event

If you are thinking of organising a charity or memorial event in honour of your loved one, please get in touch. We can help you by providing practical items such as banners, posters, collection boxes, and sponsorship forms. We have lots of ideas and helpful advice to make your event go smoothly, and we can also supply you with a handy Fundraising Pack.
